Funeral

An installation/performance by Mike Bancroft and Evan Plummer

One evening ONLY—Friday, Dec. 11, 2009, 5:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m.

Chicago, II—December 11, 2009, Funeral The third and final installment in the triptych of immersive installation and performance at Garage Spaces, a major DIY, alternative exhibition space in Chicago, opens and closes on Friday, Dec. 11, 2009 with the experience simply titled Funeral.

Artists and curators Mike Bancroft and Evan Plummer will complete the series of three installations at Garage Spaces with a performance that poses a dialogue on the culture and commerce of death in contemporary America. Garage Spaces will be recreated as a funeral home/parlor to mourn the “death” of Garage Spaces. Viewers, equally considered performers in this experience, will also be able to mourn what each of us loses in life.

Funeral will be on view December 11 ONLY at Garage Spaces, 1337 North Maplewood Avenue Chicago II. 60622 (back yard or alley) 773-216-5580 admission to Garage Spaces is free. More photos available here <http://picasaweb.google.com/manilikecheese/GarageSpaces>
